Near Piazza Repubblica. We are selling a large studio apartment with kitchenette, bathroom, closet and balcony in a quiet elegant setting. In good internal maintenance conditions. The real estate unit is suitable both for use as a home and as an investment for short or long-term rental. Possibility of transformation into a two-room apartment. The property includes a cellar in the basement. The building is equipped with a day concierge, central heating, independent hot water and air conditioning with split heat pump. Low condominium management costs. The area, in addition to the convenience of the nearby Central Station and the subways, is served by all public services, supermarkets, schools and shops. The possible profitability is excellent both with traditional contracts and with short-term rentals. Silent and bright exposure on a road with no traffic.
